

Dear CSRAO Members,

It is with great enthusiasm that I introduce to you our new Speedbuilding Instructor – Lynette Eggers.

Lynette has been in the field of education and especially court reporting for nearly 30 years. She has an AAS degree in court reporting, a B.S. degree, an MBA, and a Masters in Human and Personnel Management. She is the past President of Brown College of Court Reporting and Medical Transcription in Atlanta, Georgia. She was also one of the original members of the Stenograph Think Tank for online court reporting education back in the 90's. She has also authored several online court reporting courses and is a published author.

Lynette was the first educator to ever be hired by the National Court Reporters Association in 2006, where she was the Assistant Director of Educational Services. Over the years, she has served on various NCRA committees and worked with two national accreditation bodies. She is a NCRA certified reporting instructor (CRI), a certified program evaluator (CPE), and she earned her certification as a Certified Professional Coach (CPC) in 2011 and is currently working on another certification which she will receive this August.

Lynette has traveled throughout the United States, Canada, Australia, England, and Jamaica presenting and assisting in the field of court reporting, training, and coaching, most recently returning from Africa where she trained hand-selected professionals to become working reporters in the Rwanda Supreme Court.

With the addition of Lynette on our team, we are confident that her expert speedbuilding knowledge and experience will be a vital asset to helping you achieve your speed and accuracy goals. To sign up for Continuing Education in April, please fill out the ConEd form on this page:
